Proud partnership of

Warren County Career
Center

My educational background includes a Bachelor of Science degree in Secondary Mathematics Education from Miami University, a Masters degree in Teacher Leadership from Wright State University, and a School Counseling certificate from the University of Dayton. I taught math at Lebanon High School for 13 years, was a domestic engineer for seven years, and a school guidance counselor at Warren County Career Center for nine years. I began the Teacher Academy program at LHS and have served as the instructor for the past 11 years.

I am passionate about developing not only future educators but kind, caring, and successful human beings. We nurture a supportive atmosphere in Teacher Academy and truly become a family. The success of the program is evident and I gain the most joy from the relationships with former students as they discover their future path in education and beyond.
